Tom Clendon
FCCA

Clendon is an FCCA with 20 years teaching experience. Tom Clendon is a leading Lecturer of Financial Accounting papers in London and recently used to teaching at Kaplan London. In 2009, he won PQ magazine’s Tutor of the Year award and is known as an experienced ACCA lecturer with many prize winning students in the UK and other countries.

He started lecturing for FTMSGlobal group since 2013 and soon becomes one of the most popular lecturers in Cambodia, Singapore, Malaysia and Vietnam.

He is a famous author of many publications in financial reporting. He is most recently writing a Student’s Guide to Group Accounts, of which he said was a “creative and satisfying” experience.

Given his strong knowledge and intensive teaching experience of ACCA financial accounting papers, he will definitely guide students to understand IAS & IFRS in easy ways and prepare well for the challenging DipIFR exam.

Below are the customer reviews on his book “Student’s Guide to Group Accounts” posted on www.amazon.co.uk

“It is so easy to learn from this book I should have bought it long time back. The concept of group consolidation cannot be explained easier than this. Highly recommended for anyone who is struggling to understand the (ACCA) P2 syllabus” - By Preet Singh

“I bought this book to help me prepare for ACCA F7 financial reporting. It is an excellent book - covers the subject clearly & is very well presented (like Claire Finch's IFRS guide) using colour, mind maps, etc to aid recall of the subject. An absolute "must-have" for anyone trying to get to grips with consolidated accounts. Highly recommended” - By Amazon Customer

Tom Clendon has filled a gap for a much needed book on group accounts. It is bang up to date for the recent changes and fantastically easy to read and follow. A 'must have' on your shelf for any accountancy student. Highly recommended also for anyone wishing to update themselves on the recent changes to IFRS 3 – By Mrs Clare Finch
